COUNTY LOSES ROADS IF BILL NO. 254 PASSES

Secretary of Highways Lewis Explains Lack Of Money Hurts Projects.

WILL STOP WORK ON TEN BRIDGES

Adams county will suffer the loss of more than 35 miles of road construction and improvement during the coming year if the Steedie measure, house bill No. 254, is passed by the special session of the state legislature, Samuel S. Lewis, secretary of highways, said today.

If the measure passes "the department of highways would be compelled to immediately discontinue, if not abandon, all new construction and reconstruction on highways and bridges," Mr. Lewis explained in a letter addressed to the members of the house.

Stop Bridge Work

In addition to the loss of these roads ten bridges in the county, scheduled to be reconstructed, strengthened or repaired, will come under the abandonment axe, that is, no work will be done on them because of lack of funds.

Mr. Lewis explained further: "At the close of business on Monday, August 8, 1932, there was a balance in the motor license fund of $20,544,470.36. If you deduct from this balance the $12,000,000.00 which is proposed to be transferred to the general fund, there would be left available but $8,544,470.36 to defray the cost of collecting motor funds, the operation of the highway patrol, sinking fund and interest charges, the construction reconstruction and maintenance of 34,000 miles of state highways and more than 3,000 bridges, and the administration of the highway department."

8 Million Short

"At the close of business on August 8, 1932, there were outstanding obligations for construction both by contract and highway forces $16,936,337.01 which represents construction encumbrances on the motor fund of $8,391,866.65 in excess of money available in the event this transfer should be made. These encumbrances are exclusive of an item of $2,225,784.76 representing contracts on which bids have been received some of which have been awarded and others about to be awarded but on which no work has been done. They are also exclusive of any amounts necessary for maintenance of roads on the old state highway system, the rural system and city streets and administration, engineering and any other costs necessary for the operation of the department of highways. Nor does this deficit of $8,391,866.65 include any amounts necessary for the operation of the department of revenue in the collection of the motor fund, the operation of the highway patrol, the sinking fund of which $1,009,988.29 is due September 1, 1932, or $833,333.33 the monthly installment due the general fund on the eleventh of each month, the August payment of which is due tomorrow."

"In brief, the transfer of this $12,000,000.00 will necessitate the suspension, deferment or abandonment of all construction work now under way in every county in the state. This will result not only in the immediate dismissal of thousands of laborers employed on the highway construction program, but also mechanics, skilled laborers and laborers employed in the production of materials used in the construction of these roads."

Work suspended, referred or abandoned in Adams county, in the event that house bill No. 254 becomes a law.

PAPES FACING $20,500 SUIT AFTER CRASH

Chambersburg Couple And Daughter Bring Damage Action On Friday.

EMPLOYEE WAS DRIVING AUTO

Damages totaling $20,500 are asked by J. Harold Fraver, manager of the Gossert shoe store, Chambersburg; his wife, Ruth C. Fraver, and their child, Selena, in a suit against John H. and Eva M. Pape, Gettysburg, operators of the M. & H. Chevrolet Sales agency, Chambersburg.

The action in assumpsit, entered for the Fravers at the Franklin county prothonotary's office by Attorney E. C. Wingerd, is based on an accident in which Mrs. Fraver and her daughter were injured on February 20, 1931.

Mr. Fraver asked $5,000 compensation, Mrs. Fraver $15,000 and the child $500.

The plaintiffs' statement set forth that Mrs. Fraver and Selena were struck and injured by an automobile of the defendants at Queen and Main streets, Chambersburg, on February 20, 1931. The car was operated by Joseph Mowery, an employee of the garage.

Struck By Car

Mrs. Fraver and her daughter were crossing Queen street from the northwest to the southwest corner, the traffic light at that time showing green north and south, the statement avers. Mr. Mowery is alleged to have turned into West Queen street from Main and to have struck the Fravers.

Mrs. Fraver's injuries, as listed in the statement, included a concussion to the brain, a laceration to the upper lip and other cuts. It is further averred that two of her natural teeth and a bridge of three other teeth were loosened. As a result of the accident, it is contended, it was necessary to have two teeth extracted.

Selena, the statement sets forth, suffered face lacerations and had her knees bruised.

The statement avers that Mrs. Fraver was a hospital patient for five days and that she was confined to bed at home for thirteen weeks. She was under medical care all during that period and still is, the plaintiffs allege.

Mr. Fraver states that he paid out $175.35 for medical and hospital care and dental work. He also claims that he was required to spend $10 a week for domestic help during the 13 week period and to employ some one at $10 a week to succeed his wife as a clerk in the store.

Mrs. Fraver asks $35 as compensation for damaged clothing, and damage to Selena's clothing is fixed at $30.

William Weidner, East Berlin R. 2, the driver of the car that struck Patterson, was traveling west on Market street. When he attempted to turn left into Overbrook avenue he struck the child, who was in the company of several other boys.

The boy was taken to the West Side sanitarium by D. L. Stough, and William Mizel, of York, who were nearby at the time of the accident. At the sanitarium an examination revealed a slight fracture of the skull and bruises about the face and body. Several of the boy's teeth were also knocked out. His condition last evening was reported to be good.

As a result of an investigation by Officer Raymond Lightner the truck driver will be arrested for reckless driving, it is stated. The vehicle which Weidner was operating is owned by Harvey Ruppert, East Berlin R. 2. With him at the time was H. B. Krouit, of Harmony Grove. The injured boy's father is a councilman of the borough.

ROOSEVELT TO DEFEND STAND IN WALKER CASE

Governor To Face Supreme Court On Action In New York Mayor Issue.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—A threat of time-consuming court action thrust itself into Governor Roosevelt's investigation into Mayor James J. Walker's fitness to remain at chief executive of America's first city Friday.

The litigation menace to an early disposition of the case arose when a supreme court judge granted a writ calling upon Mr. Roosevelt to defend his power of judging the mayor. The governor agreed to withhold a decision until after the supreme court meets August 19. Further litigation would possibly hold back the governor's final word until the national election next November, when his democratic candidacy for president will be submitted to the voters.

Speedy Action Is Expected
Legal advisors to the governor said that was unlikely, since such an important matter would insure speedy action by all courts.

Pending off all implications that he used his office for personal gain, Mayor Walker denied to Governor Roosevelt that he worked for a bus franchise to favor a friend and was cut in on a stock market transaction because of influence he might exercise over city contracts.

The end of the second day of the hearing before the New York governor left one of the most important charges, that involving the missing accountant, Russell T. Sherwood, still untouched. The hearing will be resumed at 12:30 p. m. Monday.

"Certainly Is a Prophet"
Walker, emotional and excited in his first appearance before Roosevelt, was calm, legalistic in his role as witness Friday. There were flashes of Walker wit.

When it was mentioned that Mr. Walker's name was dropped from a stock market account with Paul Block, publisher, because an income-tax collector said, "It might look bad for the mayor," Walker remarked:

"I don't know the income-tax man, but he certainly is a prophet." Roosevelt, referring to the Biblical maiden Suzanne, falsely accused by her admirers, laughingly added:

"I will not say that his honor is exactly in the position of Suzanne"

The mayor cut in with "I sometimes feel like it."

"When I used the word 'beneficence,'" said Walker referring to Block's generosity, "I didn't know I was to be on trial for my English."

Lawyer Angers Governor
Mr. Roosevelt's composure was snapped when John J. Curtin, Walker's attorney, stubbornly denied the admissibility of a Block letter.

"See here, Mr. Curtin," shouted the governor, "I happen to be a lawyer and I know that remarks of that kind are wholly unnecessary to the governor of the state."

But still Curtin persisted. The governor, his eyes blazing, his clenched hands beating a tattoo on the table, said:

"If you want to make a runction about it, I'll get someone to come up here and tell about it."

STOCK REPORT

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Bears took their profits on the sharp reaction on the stock market today their repurchases giving the list strong support in the late dealings. The market ran into a backwash of selling from yesterday's slump and some issues were carried down 1 to 5 points.

ROBBER RELENTS AND CALLS OUT FIREMEN

Chicago, Aug. 13 (AP)—The robber who locked up Joseph Taylor in a cold vault filled with ice cream bars couldn't bear the thought of his victim freezing.

So he called out the fire department. Taylor was liberated after he called out the combination of the door.

The robber fled with $100.

Motorists Urged To Be Courteous And Cautious

Observance of the golden rule of the road—"Drive as you would have others drive"—by motorists, and care and caution at all times by pedestrians were urged today by Henry M. Scharf, president of the Gettysburg Motor club of Adams county.

In line with the governor's proclamation designating August as highway accident prevention month the eighty-five state A.A.A. clubs are seeking to make this "no accident month" among their members and thus far, except for several minor crashes, the slate has been kept clean.

"Let us start now and, whether behind the wheel or afoot on street or highway, observe the golden rule," Mr. Scharf appealed. "Let's take that chip off our shoulder in driving, and in walking, and be considerate and careful. This will do more to cut the toll of motor accidents than any other factor, and will make driving more pleasurable for us all."

"For some reason or other, when we drive the pedestrian seems to be reckless and inconsiderate. When we walk, the driver reminds us of a speed-crazy fool. And with that general attitude, each carrying a chip on his shoulder, it is difficult to be careful. There is no more fitting time than during this period set

Breakfast Bucket Balks Record Flight

Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—The old breakfast bucket that swung in the sky brought an endurance flight by two women to an untimely end today.

Frances Marsalis and Louise Thaden took off yesterday in an attempt to establish a new refueling endurance record for women. They got through their first night all right and completed their first refueling operation successfully this morning.

But when the refueling ship let down a bucketful of breakfast and the bucket struck one wing of their plane ripping the fabric the girls landed for repairs. They may start again late today.

Princess Ileana Is Seriously Ill

Vienna, Aug. 13 (AP)—Considerable anxiety was felt today at Moedling Villa where Princess Ileana is awaiting the birth of her first child because of complications which were said to have arisen.

A correspondent was informed that the patient's suffering was so great that the doctors had to stop and administer an injection. It was complicated by disturbances by political factions which it was understood have threatened to bomb the villa. The place was heavily guarded. Archduke Anton, Ileana's husband spent the morning pacing up and down the gardens.

SHOOTING WILL FEATURE MEET

Police From Eastern States To Attend Shooting Matches In Harrisburg.

Instruction in modern police warfare against criminals and competitive pistol matches between crack police shots feature the program of the eastern police school and eastern national pistol matches to be held at the state highway patrol training school, Harrisburg, August 15-20. The highway patrol and the police division of the national rifle association are co-operating.

State, county, municipal and industrial police departments in states east of Indiana and from Maine to North Carolina have been invited by Governor Gifford Pinchot to send representatives. The Canadian northwest mounted police also has been invited. It is expected to be the largest gathering of law enforcement agents ever held in the east.

Housed in Tents

Several hundred men will be housed in tents on the training school grounds. Military regulations and discipline will prevail. The camp will be under the direct supervision of the highway patrol. All events will be held out doors. Pistol matches will be shot on the highway patrol range, conceded to be one of the best police ranges in the country. Trophies and prizes are being offered by the National rifle association.

The primary purpose of the school is to train those attending that they may return to their home departments as qualified instructors in the subject covered. The instructors will be regular army officers and state highway patrolmen, specialists in pistol shooting, disarming and chemical warfare. Civilian instructors will instruct in the use of tear gas, smoke bombs and grenades. Instructions in the use of gas masks will also be included.

Cristies Smack Two Taverns 4-1

Continuing their reign of terror with county teams, "Doc" Crist's baseball team copped another decision Friday evening by defeating Two Taverns at Two Taverns, 4-1.

Hen Bream was in masterful form and had little trouble in turning back the lower countians. Markley's brilliant fielding at first base coupled with a sensational catch by Manager Crist, featured the game.

Next week the Cristies will play McKnightstown Tuesday evening and Fairfield Friday evening. Both games will be played on the academy field.

Bendersville Loses 11-2 Game

The powerful state hospital baseball nine of Harrisburg walloped Bendersville, leaders of the Adams county circuit, at Bendersville Thursday evening, 11-2.

Hertzog was hammered hard by the would-be doctors but fanned ten men in his term. Heller finished the game.

Five runs in the second and five in the eighth spelled defeat for the upper countians.

Orner led the visitors attack with a home run and two singles. Morrison and Reed led the Bendersville assault with a pair of hits apiece.

Libby Is Omitted From Hubby's Will

New York, Aug. 3.—Smith Reynolds, for whose murder his widow, Libby Holman Reynolds, and his "best friend," Ab Walker, face trial, left a will bequeathing his $15,000,000 share of the Reynolds tobacco fortune to his brother and sisters.

The will, drawn up and executed by the rich playboy in August, 1931, just a month before his marriage to Libby Holman of Broadway "torch song" fame, is to be offered for probate here shortly.

This action, it is believed, may precipitate a three cornered fight for a share of the 20-year-old youth's estate.

For not only is Reynolds' widow omitted from the will but no mention is made of his first wife, the former Anne Cannon, Concord, North Carolina, heiress. Libby Holman Reynolds has revealed that she is to become a mother and her child also may have a claim to the fortune.

Menges Says He May Run Again

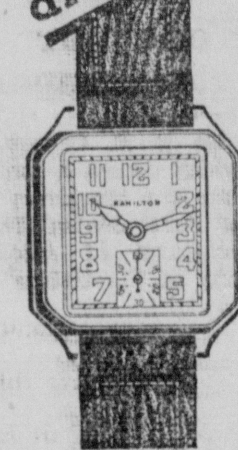

Franklin Menges, of York county, who represented the Adams-York district in congress for several terms, may be an independent candidate for the congressional toga from the new twenty-second district, according to newspaper reports from York.

Menges has announced that if he runs it will be as a dry candidate. Both Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, the regularly nominated republican candidate, and Harry L. Haines, the democratic incumbent in congress, are avowed dries.

Menges said he has the matter of running independent under consideration, and will make his decision before September 9.

WELFARE DEPT. FACES PROBLEM

Thousands Of Jobless Negroes Present Serious Task To Social Workers.

Pennsylvania's more than 40,000 Negroes are among the most unfortunate victims of the present unemployment situation. Reports coming to the department of welfare from relief agencies throughout the state indicate that adequate care for dependent Negro families presents a major problem.

Mrs. Alice F. Liveright, secretary of welfare, discussing this phase of the relief problem, said that "the Negro always has been more or less on the marginal line, economically. He has never been, as a rule, in a position to accumulate much in the way of worldly goods. As a result the depression has found him with no resources from which to draw, either to help himself or those dependent upon him."

Situation Changes

"In former years many types of employment, especially the menial positions, were considered strictly Negro jobs. Today finds the entire situation changed. Until fields have been closed to these people and they are forced to depend on the relief agencies for assistance."

Mrs. Maude B. Coleman, interracial worker for the department of welfare reports that foreclosures and numerous bank difficulties have taken the life savings of many Negro families who were purchasing homes on the strength of former occupations. They also have suffered the loss of church and fraternal buildings, many of which offered the only facilities for leisure time activities and the presentation of educational and cultural programs.

Mrs. Coleman is spending much time in the field, promoting community leisure time activity programs among Negro groups in an effort to improve general social conditions and prevent any increase in crime and juvenile delinquency of enforced idleness.

Pugsley Winner

The following lines of rhyme, "People Will Talk," have been contributed by Mrs. Leo Zents, of Fairfield:

You may get through the world, but 'twill be very slow.

If you listen to all that is said as you go, You'll be worried and fretted and kept in a stew.

For meddlesome tongues must have something to do—

For people will talk!

If quiet and modest, you'll have it presumed

That your humble position is only assumed;

You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool;

But don't get excited—keep perfectly cool—

For people must talk.

And then if you show the least boldness of heart,

Or the slight inclination to take your own part,

They will call you an upstart, conceited and vain,

And keep straight ahead, and don't stop to explain—

For people will talk!

If you're ahead of your dress or old-fashioned your hat,

Some upstart surely will take notice of that.

And hint rather strong that you can't pay your way,

But don't get excited, whatever they say—

For people will talk!

If you're in fashion, don't think to escape,

For they criticize then in a different shape.

You're ahead of your means, or your tailor's unpaid,

But mind your own business, there's naught to be made—

For people will talk!

Now, the best way to do is to do as you please.

For your mind, if you have one, will then be at ease.

Of course you will meet with all sorts of abuse.

But don't think to stop them, it ain't any use.

For people will talk!

The Faithful Cheat

BY RUBY M. AYRES

THE FAITHFUL CHEAT AUG 13

SYNOPSIS: Too late, Sondra Kent realizes she loves John Anderson. She has secretly married Mark Merriman, who now is returning home, ill, from the Congo. When Anderson proposes to her, she tells him of her marriage. He tells her she must be loyal to Mark, who needs her now.

Chapter 30

WAITING

"Am I mad or just utterly bad and fickle?" Sondra wondered hopelessly. "Only a little while ago I felt like this when Mark went away. . . no—not like this—it wasn't anything like this. I was sorry . . . sad . . . but it didn't feel like the end of the world—as this does."

And Anderson believed that when she saw Mark again all would be well.

It made her want to laugh, and it made her long to weep.

She could hear him talking to Ellen, and presently he came back and stood beside her.

"Good-bye, Sondra—"

She raised her eyes to his face. "Good-bye," she said flippantly. Her hands were resting on the table behind her and she did not offer to move them.

A little quiver of emotion crossed his face.

"I want you to be happy—that's all that matters," he said.

"Thank you," she laughed—it seemed so strange that he should wish her happiness when he was taking it from her.

"Won't you shake hands with me, Sondra?"

She drew a hard breath. "No!" she said.

He squared his shoulders as if to rid them of some heavy burden.

Good-bye then—if ever I can do anything for you—"

"There is only one thing you can do," she broke in harshly.

"What is that?" he asked.

Her unhappy eyes met his with a defiant challenge.

"Love me," she said.

"I shall always do that," he answered.

Her lips quivered with bitter jealousy.

"You say that, and you'll still go about with . . . with the Symons girl, and let people think you are going to marry her."

"What people think does not trouble me. But I am not stealing another man's wife."

"Oh you saint, you saint!" she mocked him, then suddenly the tears were running down her face.

"I suppose even you have made mistakes in your life?" she sobbed.

"My dear, I've made more than I can remember, but I've had to stand by them."

"I'm not made that way. I hate having to suffer. I can't see any sense in it. . . life's so short."

He drew a quick harsh breath—

"Sondra, if only you'd told me this sooner . . . if only you'd been honest with me."

"I'm honest now, but it's no use."

He passed a hand across his eyes—

"Good-bye, Sondra—"

He waited a moment, but she made no reply, and so he left her.

How it rained! Sondra stood on the pier staring out over the water.

A little distance away John Anderson and Mark's mother stood talking together, Sondra had wandered restlessly away from them finding it almost impossible to listen anymore to Mrs. Merriman's eternal questioning.

"What time is it now? . . . Do you think the boat will be late?"

She was a small, spare woman, as much unlike Mark as it is possible for mother and son to be.

She knew all about Sondra's marriage—everybody knew—to Sondra it had been like writing "The End" on the last page of a story of which she had only just discovered what the ending was to be.

She had not seen Anderson since the evening he left her at the cottage till this morning when he had motored her up with Mark's mother to meet the boat.

It had seemed a queer sort of journey—the three of them united by such strange ties—divided by emotions even more strange.

Sondra knew that Mrs. Merriman disliked her and disapproved of her; but it did not seem to matter—nothing mattered.

Even the fact of Anderson's presence had hardly hurt her—he seemed somehow so far removed.

He was kind, attentive—courteous, but there was something gone from his manner; she had felt all the time as if he were stretching out an arm to keep her away from him.

Presently he came across to her.

"The boat won't be in for an hour yet, Sondra. We'll go and get something to eat. You must be hungry."

They had left the shore almost at daybreak; Mrs. Merriman who had stayed over night with Sondra had insisted on everyone's being ready at an entirely unnecessary hour.

"I'm not hungry," Sondra said in answer to Anderson's suggestion.

"But we will go if you like."

Sondra drank some coffee but she could not eat.

She sat almost silent, listening to Mrs. Merriman's ceaseless questioning.

"Do you think he will be very ill?—oughtn't we to have brought a doctor? How shall we get him home?"

It was a relief when she left them and wandered outside to see if there was any further news of the boat.

"You haven't eaten anything, Sondra," Anderson said.

"I'm not hungry."

She looked at him with indifferent eyes; he was so calm and undisturbed, and yet if he loved her he must surely be suffering—just as little?

She said with sudden irrelevance—

"I wonder what's become of Flora? It seems funny she has never written to me."

"What made you suddenly think of her?"

She shrugged her shoulders—

"Perhaps because I want to do what she did—run away from a man I do not love."

He made no answer, and she asked presently:

"I wonder what you are thinking about?"

He smiled a little. "I dare say my thoughts are very much the same as yours, Sondra—perhaps I am wondering why we make such a muddle of our lives."

Gold On Increase

Stock Of Precious Metal Rises More Than $100,000 Since Lowest Point.

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Since it reached low ebb during the recent heavy outflow of gold, the nation's monetary gold stock has increased nearly $100,000.

A major financing undertaking, involving the retirement by the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railroad company of approximately $500,000 of its bonds floated last decade in the American market, gives virtual assurance of crossing $100,000 in the early future. The funds, which are being provided to take care of this repayment, are coming mainly from France's gold supply still left under "earmark" in New York, and not counted in the American gold stock.

The monetary gold stock of the United States on June 15 was $3,909,000. August 3, the latest date for which federal reserve figures are now available, the supply stood at $3,987,000, an increase of $78,000. Since then, the nation has gained $14,378,000 of gold, according to the daily tabulation furnished by the federal reserve bank of New York.

College Appeals

Jenkintown School Seeks Estate Of Noted Churchman Awarded To Wilson.

Philadelphia, Aug. 13 (AP)—Beaver college, Jenkintown, Thursday appealed to the state supreme court from the decision of the Philadelphia orphans court awarding Wilson college, Chambersburg, the income of approximately $50,000 a year from the estate of the late Dr. William Curran.

The colleges have disputed for the last four years over their qualifications to receive the income from the $769,000 estate of Dr. Curran, a Presbyterian churchman and physician, who died 50 years ago.

Francis Biddle, auditor appointed to inquire into the merits of the claimants, had recommended Beaver college. Judge George Henderson, of the orphans court, disregarded and ruled the income should go to Wilson college.

"Bank On Wheels" Tours Small Town Routes In Ohio

Springfield, O. (AP)—Merchants used to say to one another "I'll pay you when my ship comes in."

Today up and down Main street in Jeffersonville, South Solon, South Charleston and Cedarville, O., merchants now say to one another: "Lend me some change for this five, will you? I'll pay you back when the bank comes in."

And farmers in these four communities time their visits to town on Mondays and Fridays, because those are the days when "the bank is in town."

First In East

What is said to be the first "bank on wheels" established east of California has been started by the First National bank and Trust company of Springfield, and the First National bank of Washington Court house, both member banks in the BancOhio corporation.

The new "rolling bank" provides limited service for patrons in the four villages, located between the two cities.

The closing of local banks in several villages left the residents without banking facilities of any kind. The "rolling bank" was started when bank officials received numerous requests for emergency banking service of various kinds from business houses.

Truck Heavily Guarded

So now a heavily armored truck, protected with bullet-proof steel plate and equipped with sawed-off shotguns and high powered rifles, rumbles into each of the towns twice a week.

The truck stops under the shade of a tree, or perhaps by the town pump, and immediately that spot becomes the "financial district" of the town.

Merchants send their clerks scurrying with money bags and bank books. Farmers line up with their deposits and withdrawal slips. The armed teller busily transacts business during the half-hour to two-hour scheduled stop, while the armed driver and armed guard look on. Then the truck chugs away to the next village.

Maryland Prospers

Sale Of Bonds At Record Price Strengthens Financial Position Of State.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—The sale of more than $3,000,000 in bonds for one of the highest prices ever received in Maryland's history was accredited by Governor Albert C. Ritchie to the state's budget system.

The Mercantile trust company of Baltimore and associates paid $105,607.9 for each $100 par-value bond at the sale at the state treasurer's office this week. The total amount of the issue was $3,076,000, to bear four and one-half per cent interest.

"With government securities at a discount and with other state and public securities without any market at all," Governor Ritchie said, "Maryland stands out as at least one state whose credit is beyond question."

"This is due, in great part if not altogether, to our executive budget system, which assures an adequate treasury surplus when strictly and faithfully observed. It has been adhered to, strictly and faithfully, and the result is an unimpeachable credit."

The funds from the sale will be used for construction and improvements of state hospitals, memorials, schools, penal institutions and national guard armories.

Paralysis Scarce

Health Service Says 1931 Epidemic Means Few Cases Now; Four Locally.

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Parental summer worries should lighten with word from the public health service that extensive outbreaks of infantile paralysis are unlikely this year.

The reason, paradoxically enough, is the outbreaks reported in New York, New England and portions of the Middle West last year and others the year before in California, Kansas and some other far western states.

On the face of things, the South should be trembling now at the beginning of the late summer season, when there is always a rise in the number of cases reported.

A strange factor that characterizes a strange disease, however, is students of the malady agree that the warmer the climate the rarer the recognized occurrence of poliomyelitis, the physician's name for infantile paralysis. It causes little trouble in the tropics.

Taking this into consideration, scientists are confident the disease has spread within the past two years over virtually all sections of the United States where epidemics normally occur. This is the basis for their prediction that the number of cases this year will be far below last year, the worst since 1916.

Three homes are quarantined in Hanover and two in Adams county, due to presence of infantile paralysis.

CADDY GETS THAT THRILL

St. Louis (AP)—Bill Lamborn, qualifying in the caddies' tournament at Forest Park here, sank his tee shot on the 230-yard tenth hole.

WHEN HELENE BEAT THE DUTCH

It was a battle of champions when Helene Madison (right) and her Dutch rival Wilhelmina den Ouden, met in the finals of the 100-meters Olympic swim in Los Angeles. The fraulein broke the world record in the semi-finals and then Helene came back in the finals to win by almost a length and set up a new world record of 1 minute, 6.2 seconds. TEN YEARS AGO

Open Camp on Potomac: The advance contingent of members of the Majestic club, who will be encamped along the Potomac river, three and a half miles above Williamsport, Maryland, left Gettysburg Friday morning to establish the camp. The camp will continue two weeks and the following comprise the roster: Percy Miller, Lester Stouffer, Arthur Buehler, Clyde Bream, Donald Hammers, Curtis Klinefelter, N. C. Miller, Murray Miller, Fred Pfeffer, Earl Stallsmith, Ralph Stoner, Monroe Weiser and William Troxell. Dangerfield Mitchell, colored, accompanied the party as cook.

Elect New Head or Hospital: Miss Martha McKay, superintendent of the Lumdale hospital, at Lumdale, Logan county, West Virginia, was elected superintendent of the Annie Warner hospital, at a meeting of the board of directors of that institution held on Friday evening. Miss McKay will succeed Miss Elizabeth M. Thomas.

Miss McKay was highly recommended to the local directors by Mrs. Appee, who was superintendent of the Howard hospital, while Miss McKay was employed there.

Young Pastor Weds Town Girl: Rev. Ralph Wagner, alumnus of the college and seminary here, surprised the members of his family Thursday, when, after he had performed the marriage ceremony for his sister, Evelyn, and E. S. Barber, of Bridgeport, he announced he would wed Miss Stella B. Shumaker, of Gettysburg. There was a double wedding.

When Rev. Wagner had performed the ceremony, he called Rev. George Harris and announced he would be the bridegroom in the second wedding of the day.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Lutheran Seminary here in May. He has been supplying the Lower Frankford charge, near Carlisle.

Mrs. Wagner is an alumnus of Gettysburg college and during the last year was a student at the seminary.

Read The Bible With Us Daily

I cried unto the Lord with my voice; with my voice unto the Lord did I make my supplication.

I poured out my complaint before him; I shewed before him my trouble.

When my spirit was overwhelmed within me, then thou knewest my path. In the way wherein I walked have they privily laid a snare for me.

I looked on my right hand, and behold, but there was no man that would know me; refuge failed me; no man cared for my soul.

I cried unto thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my refuge and my portion in the land of the living.

Attend unto my cry; for I am brought very low: deliver me from my persecutors; for they are stronger than I.

Bring my soul out of prison, that I may praise thy name; the righteous shall compass me about; for thou shalt deal faithfully with me. Psalm 142.

Just Folks

HAVE DONE WITH PITY
When someone you know who has suffered a blow Comes in with a trinket to sell, Don't open your eyes with a look of surprise.
Don't ask him his hard luck to tell.
Don't say: "Life is strange, what a terrible change!"
Don't give him a moment to wail. Don't share in his sob, he is back on the job!
It's not pity he needs, but a sale!

The time has gone by when it's proper to sigh;
Feeling sorry for men doesn't aid. When an old friend comes in fighting once more to win, Don't mention the blunders he's made.
Don't say: "It's too bad, once a fortune you had!"
For the world has grown sick of that tale.
Pat his back for good luck. That will bolster his pluck.
It's not pity he needs, but a sale!

We have wiped out the past. To the future at last
Every one of us now has to turn. All that counts is the man! So assist when you can
And your pride in his grit let him learn.
When you see him draw near, speak a word of good cheer,
For his hold on himself still is frail.
Don't belittle his deeds, but remember his needs.
It's not pity he wants, but a sale!

WALKER ACTS AS COUNSEL AT HEARING

Mayor Near Tears in Plea for Career Before Governor Roosevelt.

Albany, Aug. 13 (AP).—Fighting for his political life, Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, Thursday brushed aside the advice of counsel and dramatically defended his administration at an ouster hearing before Governor Roosevelt.

This and the governor's announcement he would give "due consideration" to calling any witnesses either side wished to have testify were the two most striking developments of the first day's hearing.

Jumping to his feet as John J. Curtin, his attorney, sought the right to cross-examine Walker's accusers, the mayor took the stand to explain what Samuel Seabury, investigator for the Hofstadter legislative committee, claims was misconduct.

He denied he was given $26,000 in bonds in return for his support of legislation favorable to the Parmelee taxicab interests.

Walker Drops Wiscracking Roosevelt, leaning forward across the broad-topped desk at which he sat, questioned the mayor. Walker, earnest and with never a semblance of the witicism that has made him famous, replied in a husky voice that sometimes quavered with emotion.

"I haven't had the right to cross-examine witnesses," said Walker, "if I don't have it here—." He paused, his arms fell to his side and his eyes for a second reached those of his wife, who, across the chamber, twisted a wilted handkerchief in her hands—"it means the end of a career to which I have given my life."

"There must be some place for me," he cried, hunched across his counsel table and looking directly at Roosevelt. "I can't be driven out this way without a chance to look into the face of my accusers. If this is to continue, out goes reputation, out goes past and future."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GOOD TALK

THOSE who gathered about the presence of Dr. Johnson must have departed rich in experience. What a thrill to have heard the great thinker say, as you left his presence, "Sir, we had good talk!" It must be noted that he would not have said: "Sir, we had a good talk."

Nothing is more stimulating than good talk—perhaps around an open fire, or in the drawing room of a train, or upon a steamship, or in the library of a friend. It matters little, however, where—just so long as the talk is good.

Ideas move the world. It is by polishing and remodeling and renewing the ideas which we already own that we gain better and newer ideas. Good talk stimulates ideas. A silent listener may depart from hours of talk with more ammunition and wealth for future conquests than if he were to be presented with the contents of a bank!

The habit of close observation, of regular reading, and of engaging the best and most interesting minds, whenever possible, creates within anyone material for good talk.

How interesting and fresh the talk of that one just returned from a far away foreign country. So much to tell, so much that has become embedded in the mind forever. It is a good practice, after reading a book that has inspired and enriched your own mind, to talk about it to someone else. There is a creative force always at work in all true expression.

Congentiality produces good talk. In George Meredith's book, "Diana Of The Crossways," appears brilliant talk, as it was carried on in the drawing rooms of that story. Much of that talk remains in my memory, though the book was read long ago.

Good talk must necessarily exclude all topics that might tend to embitter or to stir up prejudice. The cheapest sort of talk is scandal. Next to that is flattery.

The happiest talk to listen to is that which raises your own talk to a higher level!

Companies That Increased Ads Did Well In '31, Says A. N. P. A.

Companies With Increased Advertising Schedules Show Gains In Business; New Products Are Successfully Launched By Newspapers.

Comparative earnings of 25 companies that maintained or increased newspaper advertising in 1931 and 25 companies in corresponding trade groups that decreased their newspaper advertising show that the net earnings of the year for the former group were only seven per cent below the year preceding while the earnings of the latter group dropped 73 per cent, according to a study made by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

The study shows that earnings of many companies have been maintained or increased by consistent newspaper advertising, and that several concerns have reached new highs during the depression through the ability to concentrate on profitable markets and realize immediate sales with newspaper advertising.

Examples In Two Lines
One automobile concern, increasing its newspaper budget 33 per cent in 1931, raised its net earnings in that year 40 per cent, the survey revealed. "Another manu-

Approach Shots Golf's Big Item

By Johnny Farrell
(As Told To Artie McGovern)
In and around the greens—that's where strokes are either saved or lost.

"Keep your head down" is a fundamental rule that applies more to the short game than to any other phase of golf.

All short shots should be played with very little pivot, a short back swing, and full forward swing. Don't try an easy swing on these shots. They must be hit firmly.

The distance is controlled by the back swing. If you bring the club head back only two feet from the ball, you can depend upon a distance of 25 to 30 yards; from three or four feet a firmly hit ball will travel 50 to 70 yards.

These short approach shots must be worked out on the fairway and greens of your own course before you can show marked improvement in your score.

Hay Fever Topples

July Rains Will Keep Suffering At Minimum This Year; Pollen Is Studied.

Chicago, Aug. 13 (AP).—The sniffle and sneeze crop among hay fever sufferers, said the man who was tabulating data, will not be so large as last year.

O. C. Durham, botanist, is polling the ragweed pollen content of the air above 41 cities daily during the hay fever season which started Wednesday. The federal weather bureau is helping him. Oil covered slides are exposed to the invisible pollen clouds at 1,500 feet altitude.

Last year was one of the worst for hay fever sufferers, Durham said. Records of rainfall during July indicated this season would be less severe.

My Beauty Hint

By Barbara Stanwyck
The old maxim about brushing the hair 100 times before retiring is a splendid rule to observe if you wish to have bright, lustrous hair.

First I run my fingers through my hair, with a half massage stroke. Then, with a fairly wide-toothed comb, I remove the tangles.

With a stiff brush I brush it briskly with a back-from-the-face and downward movement. As a result, my hair has an added lustre and glow.

Fine catches of large mouth bass are being made in the Susquehanna river near Columbia this year, according to reports received at the fish commission.

A large mouth bass weighing nine pounds and measuring twenty-nine inches was caught by Bert Kline, Columbia angler, recently. John Rollman, Mount Joy, landed two fine bass at the juncture of Chickies creek and the Susquehanna river. The larger of the two bass in Rollman's catch measured 23½ inches in length and weighed 7½ pounds. The other fish was 19 inches in length, weight 4½ pounds.

Long Wait Brings Her Film Chance

Hollywood.—After five years of obscurity, Alice Adair hopes to plant her "expressive legs" firmly on the ladder leading to movie success.

Alice, 21, five feet four inches tall, light brunet in coloring, has been in Hollywood five years, but at last has achieved distinction—of a sort.

Director Frank Borzage wanted a pair of "expressive legs with a blond temperament" for scenes in his "A Farewell to Arms." The owner of those limbs will be seen in the picture. At least the limbs will. Alice was selected, and, even though her face will be ignored by the camera, she's elated.

"It's a nice bit," she says, "and I'm lucky to win it."

She is ambitious and eager to win a regular film contract.

"I think I could make a success as a comedienne if given a chance," she says confidently. "And you never can tell—this bit, even though I'm acting with my legs alone, may be the break I've needed."

Alice, born in Paul's Valley, Oklahoma, nursed an ambition to become a dancer and in the summers studied in Dallas, Texas. When she came to Hollywood she danced on the stage for six months, then played the piano in a girls' orchestra another six months, finding it pleasant enough if not particularly remunerative. So she became a movie extra.

The brief-lived boom in musical pictures made her dancing ability profitable for a year, and she often has been selected for bits before. But nothing better came of any of them.

Barefoot Men

Western Clubs Enforce Rules In Spite Of Hot Sidewalks.

Fullerton, Neb. (AP).—A fad for "booster" clubs has swept through Nebraska towns this summer—whisker clubs, big hat clubs, purple shirt and red necktie clubs—

But Fullerton, to be different, organized a barefoot club.

And the business men of this town of 2,700 population have taken it seriously, though hot sidewalks blister the feet.

About 200 of the town's merchants joined the club and pledged themselves to go barefooted until Nance county's homecoming celebration.

Allowance was made, however, for members with tender feet—they were permitted to wear soles bound to bare feet.

Rules permit shoes to be worn in places of business, but when a member appears on the street with shoes on he's taken before a "kangaroo court" by a "constable."

Even traveling men reaching Fullerton have been taken into "court" and fined, or required to remove their shoes.

Not to be outdone by the men, Fullerton women organized an "auxiliary"—a "pinafore" club whose members are required to wear pinafores and hair ribbons.

ONE VOTE COST $35.75

Kansas Law Required Printing of 3,750 Ballots.

Clay Center, Kan., Aug. 13 (AP).—One socialist voted his preference at the recent primary at a cost to Clay county of $35.75.

State law requires that where there is a demand for only one ballot of any party ticket, ballots must be printed for every precinct in the county.

One registered socialist voter in Clay county made it mandatory that a total of 3,750 socialist ballots be printed. Only one such ballot was cast.

Adolf Hitler, Germany's Question Mark, Launches Anti-Jewish Drive

By Louis P. Lochner
Berlin (AP).—Of Germany's 63,000,000 inhabitants there is one element, comprising at least 500,000, which seems doomed to a period of social ostracism, and treatment as second class citizens if the July 31 elections give Hitler's Nazis control of Germany. That element is the Jews.

Anti-Semitism is a cardinal doctrine in the creed of Adolf Hitler, "Juda verrecke" ("Perish the Jews") is as much of a slogan for wearers of the brown shirt as is "Down with capitalism!" for communists.

On every Nazi book stand one finds a pamphlet of 160 pages titled, "Adolf Hitler's Speeches." It begins with his platform utterances in 1922, a year before he attempted his "beer cellar putsch" at Munich.

One of his first public addresses was delivered while a world economic conference was meeting at Genoa in April, 1922. Speaking at Munich, Hitler warned that "democracy is in principle not German, but Jewish." He also claimed that "the Jews incited the broad masses of the German people into the 'November insanity'" (meaning the overthrow of the Hohenzollerns in November, 1918).

A few months later Walter Rathenau, Germany's Jewish foreign minister, was assassinated and Hitler said the murder was due solely to the fact that the Jews were undeservedly given positions of prominence.

Anti-Jew Attitude
On April 13, 1923, a whole speech was devoted to the thesis that "the Jew and the world's stock exchanges were responsible for the World War."

More recently Hitler has been more moderate in his language. In private talks he even states that "decent Jews" have nothing to fear.

In practice, however, the anti-Semitism continues with Nazi pressure exerted in all directions. Even the Von Papen cabinet, close though it is to the Nazis, was severely criticized when it appointed a man of Jewish antecedents as chief of the government press department, and a half-Jew as under-secretary of finance.

The most recent example was furnished on June 24, when the Hitlerites introduced a bill in the Prussian diet demanding the possessions of all east European Jews who have entered Germany since August 1, 1914, be confiscated on the ground that Jews belong to "a race which does not work productively, but merely grasps."

Jews Are Alarmed
Another motion demanded the compilation of a list of all Jews employed in Prussian state operas and state theatres. The intention was obvious—to oust all Jewish artists.

A German movie concern has dropped its Jewish stars because it fears that films in which they appear may call forth interruptions by the Nazis.

Thus, although Hitler himself is not as rapidly anti-Semitic as he used to be, the half million Germans who still cling to the Jewish faith, and untold Christians with Jewish antecedents, are viewing the growth of his party with genuine alarm.

Ohio Coal Fields Renew Fighting

Athens, Ohio, August 13 (AP).—Gunfire, dynamite explosion and the burning of 3 houses marked activities in a renewal of violence in the Athens county coal fields Thursday night and early Friday.

The disorders started shortly after the day crew of the No. 25 mine of the Manhattan coal company at Chauncey quit work late Thursday.

As the men were leaving the shaft a cross-fire of machine gun and rifle fire raked the property. No one was hurt.

BREAKS BRITISH RECORD

Aviatrix Now Seeks World Endurance Mark.

London, Aug. 13 (AP).—Under a blazing sun which produced the hottest day England has had in two years, Mrs. Victor Bruce shuttled back and forth in her "flying bungalow," completing 48 hours in the air in an attempt to set a new world's record for endurance flying.

Mrs. Bruce broke the British endurance record of 50 hours and 38 minutes at 3:00 p. m. The world's record, established in 1930 by Forest O'Brine and Dale Jackson, is more than 647 hours.

Baseball Umpire's Decision Sent To Nicaraguan Supreme Court

Managua, Nicaragua, Aug. 13—An umpire's decision on a close play in a baseball game has given the Nicaraguan supreme court a unique case in which the official guide will be as important as the statute books.

Two weeks ago the Managua Boers and a team from Granada were playing off a tie or second place in the Nicaraguan national league, the winners to play San Fernando for the championship.

The game brought out 5,000 customers.

In the last half the score was 4 to 0 in favor of Managua and Granada was at bat. There was none out and two men were on bases.

The Granada batter hit a slow roller down the first-base line. It hit fair, rolled foul and then bounced back in. The Managua pitcher fielded the ball, but threw high to first. The men on second and third scored and the batter went to third.

Then the umpire said the hit was foul.

The crowd swarmed out on the field as the Granada players surrounded the umpire. That official pulled out his watch and gave the Granada team time to clear the field. When the time limit had expired he forfeited the game to Managua.

Friday the president of the Granada club filed an appeal with the supreme court claiming Granada's share of the gate receipts, which, under a ruling of the Nicaraguan sport commission, cannot be divided with any club which is punished for infraction of the rules.

My Beauty Hint

By Loretta Young

Every woman wants to keep her hair fluffy and beautiful, and here is how I learned to do it.

My hairdresser told me not to wash my hair too frequently as it would take the life out of it. So now I dip my hair in cleaning fluid every other day while I am working.

It works fine; keeps it soft and fluffy. I just put my head in the wash bowl and have the cleaner poured over it. It tries in a very short time.

By Janet Gaynor

To keep my complexion good I use a honey treatment night and morning.

I cold cream my face, rub it in and remove it with a soft cloth. Next I wash my face with soap and warm water.

Then I apply the honey and pat it in for five minutes. Next I wash it off with cold water and apply an astringent. The honey removes impurities and leaves my skin in excellent condition.

By June Collyer

Beautiful, expressive eyes are nature's gift to a pretty woman—but like everything else, a little grooming improves them.

In making up my eyes, which are light brown, I use brown eyeshadow and black mascara, but I use only a little of each.

To give added depth and lustre to the eyes, I rub a bit of brown eyeshadow over the lids. Too much shadow will give an artificial appearance to the face.

Pola Negri

I am an ardent horsewoman, having ridden since early childhood. It is my favorite sport, with swimming ranking second.

I dislike any forms of exercise along the daily-dozen type, and believe that riding is the most beneficial form of exercise.

I recommend it as a tonic for the woman whose leisure hours are limited, and who must combine pleasure with exercise.

DISCUSS REOPENING OF STATE POLICE SUB-STATION

The prospect of reopening a state police sub-station in Chambersburg was discussed Friday at a meeting of Lieutenant Bennett and Sergeant R. W. Frutchey of Troop E with the Franklin county commissioners and District Attorney Benedict.

No definite decision was reached, but the board of commissioners tentatively agreed to contribute toward the rental of quarters for the troopers in event a sub-station is reopened there. Meanwhile the state police officers were expected to make a survey with the view of tentatively deciding upon quarters for the proposed detail.

WENDEL ESTATE CONTEST

Surrogate Foley Eliminates 1,800 Claims At One Stroke In New York.

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Approximately 1,800 persons were eliminated from the Wendel estate contest in one stroke when Surrogate James A. Foley ordered the field cut down to twenty-seven.

From these twenty-seven will be selected the nearest next of kin entitled to bring suit to break the will of Miss Ella von E. Wendel, which leaves some $30,000,000 to charity.

Surrogate Foley ruled out all persons whose claims of relationship did not come within the fifth degree.

Exports from Alaska to the United States and foreign countries since 1910 have totaled more than 186 times the purchase price of $7,200,000 paid for the country.

SEWELL'S THROWS TOUGH, YANK FIRST SACKER FINDS

New York (AP)—Little Joey Sewell has been playing a bang-up game at third base for the New York Yankees this season, but at times he seems no bargain to Lou Gehrig, burly first baseman.

"Sewell," Gehrig says, "throws the 'heaviest' ball of any of the Yankees. Sometimes it almost tears my hands off."

Gehrig, however, likes a "heavy" ball for pick-ups. It bounds straighter than one that settles "lightly."

Von Nearop's body was recovered from a water-filled oil pit, where it had been hidden. Paul Cress, Noble county attorney, said he would file murder charges against Martin.
